Atua Enkop Africa Collection

The words 'Atua Enkop' in the Maa language of the Masai means "from the earth" or "out of Africa", thus sprung a collection of four camps uniquely African in quality, and truly luxurious, spread across a conservancy and two of Kenya's chief game reserves. These being;

- Mbweha Camp – Soysambu Conservancy
- Elephant Bedroom Camp – Samburu National Reserve
- Tipilikwani Camp – Masai Mara National Reserve
- Mara Ngenche Safari Camp – Masai Mara National Reserve

At Atua Enkop we pride ourselves, in the way we handle our guests, as the camps are the brain child of a group of professionals in the Tourism Industry, whom amongst themselves have garnered a wealth of experience in handling clients whilst operating their own establishments.

The camps are small and exclusive, each is strategically located to ensure an unforgettable game-viewing experience.

The camps are not fenced, as we believe that animals have the right of way to use the trails which were exclusively theirs before we arrived, hence the ultimate bush experience to our guests. But the guest's security and safety remain our number one priority.

Corporate Social Responsibility

INTERACTING WITH THE LOCAL COMMUNITIES

Some of our Endeavors include:

- Tipilikwani Clean up (2019) - Atua Enkop Africa staff (Tipi's Mara Ngenche) collaborated with the local community. Followed with a "Pesa for Plastic" endeavour, which the locals gave up a 10% of their accumulated plastics.
- The supply of free water from our bore hole which has resulted in the near eradication of typhoid in the Tipilikwani area in the Maasai Mara.
- Supporting local schools, through the funding of building projects, again in the Mara area.
- Tree planting to enhance the bush coverage along the Talek River in the Maasai Mara.
- Building (and donation) of a toilet block at the airstrip that serves the Samburu and Buffalo Springs National Eco-system.
- Supporting a local village in the Samburu area by display and marketing their artwork and fashion accessories, including bracelets, necklaces, bead work, etc in our camps shops.
- We hold annual free medical camps in conjunction with an NGO in the Maasai Mara providing free medical services to the local community.

Atua Enkop has integrated its initiatives under three key focus areas,

- Responsible Business
- Environmental Engagement
- Community Engagement, under the definition of sustainability.

We focus on innovation and programs that respond to the needs of the environment, economy and the local communities, the fundamental tenets of sustainability. These help to create the company's sustainable development agenda by aiming to inspire it's various stakeholders take a wider consideration encompassing a long-term view when making business decisions
